Aiden, World By Storm

Sometimes when fear strikes home we hit back hard now with a vengence all our own The slate has been wiped clean My eyes have been opened up I feel the pride pushed away and bad feelings stop I know now I feel it coming

Dissintegrate-Follow me Now I see Now I see the truth Dissintegrate-Follow me Now I see Now I see it's you

The bridges burned have been swept away The past has been erased our minds feel awake I know The slate has been wiped clean I wont pretend to let the world pass by and there's kids in the world who's dreams will die I know now I feel it coming
