

Air Supply, Stars In Your Eyes

We are civilized and free from all confusion
And yet we always worry for the things that we can't see
But now to give your love away, a miracle in motion
You know what seems invisible will never ever be disguised to me

I start to lose control
I start to lose control

CHORUS

I know I will remember for longer than forever
All the love and the stars in your eyes
Until my arms surround you and build the world around you
All I see are the stars in your eyes

First you hear the angels sing and then you see the wedding ring
Shining as the threads of life so secretly are woven

You know what you've found, you want to last forever
Your heart has found its wings and left for never never

And then I lose control
I start to lose control

CHORUS

I know I will remember for longer than forever
All the love and the stars in your eyes

CHORUS - REPEAT
