

Al Stewart, Apple cider re constitution

When we came to the station all the trains were rusty, The doors were open and the windows broke