

Alabama, Love Remains (w/ Christopher Cross)

Alabama
When It All Goes South
Love Remains (w/ Christopher Cross)
(Randy Goodrun/Rob Mathes)

When the last drop of rain has fallen
When the final note has drifted away
When the earth ceases to turn
And the last fire has burned

When the wind stops its ceaseless blowing
When the last wave has come into shore
When the sun has called it a day
And the stars have all floated away

My heart will still be yours, baby
My dreams will still be yours, darlin'
You and I will find nothing has changed
Love, love, love
Love, love, love (remains)

When we have grown old together
And the hourglass runs out of sand
Darlin' you will kiss me and then
Forever starts all over again

My heart will still be yours, baby
My dreams will still be yours, darlin'
You and I will find nothing has changed
Love, love, love
Love, love, love (remains)

My soul is one with yours, baby
Just to hold you drives me crazy
In your eyes I see... you feel the same
Love, love, love
Love, love, love remains

Love remains like an endless flame
Through the brightest joys and the darkest pain
In the end....

My heart will still be yours, baby
My dreams will still be yours, darlin'
You and I will find nothing has changed
Love, love, love
Love, love, love (remains)

My soul is one with yours, baby
Just to hold you drives me crazy
In your eyes I see... you feel the same
Love, love, love
Love, love, love remains
Love, love, love
Love, love, still remains
Love, love, love
Love, love, remains
Love, love, love
Love, remains
Love, love, love
Love, love, still remains
Love, love, love
Love, love, love
Love, love, still remains

Oh, love, love, love
Love, love, love
Oh, love, love, love
