Alesha Dixon, Hand It Over

There's a part that doesn't even work at all Ran out of power cause I left it on But there's a part that still believes in love But now it's turning cold

Cause I let somebody handle and they made it hurt again Cause they did it so much damage Never thought it would run again But I found the pieces every single one and put them back

Never wanna go through that again (Oh No say no no say never wanna say no no) Fall through if I hand it over to you could you held my heart But if I hand it over to you Would you be careful (careful, careful, careful)

When you're close my heart is way above the ground But then it falls when you're not around It beats and it pounds I can't turn it down And now I'm afraid

Cause I let somebody handle and they made it hurt again (yeah) Cause they did it so much damage Never thought it would run again (no) But I found the pieces every single one and put them all back

Never wanna go through that again (Oh No say no no say never wanna say no no) Fall through if I hand it over to you could you held my heart
But if I hand it over to you
Would you be careful you got so many things about you and I don't have the words to say Cause my heart is doing the talking Can't you hear it's calling your name

I wanna hand it over
Hand it over to you
I wanna hand it over
Fall through if I hand it over to you could you held my heart
But if I hand it over to you
Would, would you be careful

Fall through if I hand it over to you could you held my heart But if I hand it over to you Would you be careful

Ooh if I hand it over Fall through if I hand it over to you could you held my heart
