Alessi, I Wish That I Was Making Love

Girl, I miss you and feel you wanting me over the telephone I'm still here alone and though it seems a close to perfect day Where everything just went my way Might have the longest night I've ever known I wish that I was making love to you tonight I've never seen so many stars or a moon as bright Babe, you're all that's missing to make it all just right And I wish that I was making love to you tonight In the darkness, I feel my empty bed covered with loneliness We pay for our success in ways we never could have dreamed before Babe, I need you more and more and nothing ever makes me want you less. I wish that I was making love to you tonight I've never seen so many stars or a moon as bright Babe, you're all that's missing to make it all just right And I wish that I was making love to you tonight Wish I was makin' love And Babe you're all that's missing to make it all just right And I wish that I makin' love to you
