

Alessi's Ark, Woman

The ring around the moon last night
Was caused by the refraction of moon-light
From the crystals of silver, crunchy ice
I thought i'd call
To say I think you're nice
Some things are better sung than said
I'd like to walk around in your beautiful head
To dangle solar-systems above your wicker bed
All I am is a woman
The web across your eyes last night
Was spun by the sandman's surprise
When I dreamt, I dreamt I kissed you between the eyes
When I awoke, I had been blinded by your light
Some things are better sung than said
I'd like to walk around in your magical head
To dangle photographs above your wicker bed
You started out in a woman
Became a man in a woman
All I am is a woman
When I am looking at the moon
I am blinded by your light.