

Aletheian, An Open Grave

(An unobtrusive observation from the outside, of the steady degradation of blossoming life.)

All consumed with fire, raging on the injustice defiling this home, the devastation is two-fold. Malev

How can I mourn for your plight when your persistent fervor testifies that you're determined to fight