

Alex Kaneko, To You

always with a frown
and tightly folded arms smiling upside down
I wish there was a way
a word that I could say for you to smile your unseen walls away smile for me
you never let me see
as beautiful as you're meant to be
so smile for me
just for a while
light up tonight
with your smile
wishing only if I knew the special parts of you I sometimes see shine through everything you hide
a carefully crafted lie trying hard to cage yourself inside
smile for me
you never let me see
as beautiful as you're meant to be
so smile for me
just for a while
light up tonight
with your smile
you don't always have to seem so far I'm lonely too
you know you can outshine any star if you tried to just smile for me
you never let me see
as beautiful as you're meant to be
so smile for me
just for a while
light up tonight
with your smile
always with a frown
and tightly folded arms
smiling upside down