

Alex Lloyd, Lost In The Rain

I'll take you where you want to go under the city beneath it's tow how much d'you think you're gonna see start to believe in. trusting is free don't get lost in the rain no more treading your imprint close to the door it's only lonely when you don't know how far making it different asking for more no place for where it used to be looking for comfort in all the wrong places and this wall is slowly coming down leaving the fence now. moving it round

don't get lost in the rain no more
treading your imprint close to the door

it's only lonely when you don't know what for making it different. asking for more

sing it loud now make it pure you make it pure
you make it

sing it loud now make it pure
you make it pure
you make it

sing it loud now make it pure
you make it pure
you make it

don't get lost in the rain no more
treading your imprint close to the door

it's only lonely when you don't know what for
making it different asking for more

your in my arms again your in my eyes
your in me