how much longer do i have to live?

the ditch of the death god's already know all of the days have remained even if i want to exchange them you are near it you were near that time if you turn back by all means, won't you do it?

living for the first time to die
i want to meet it and i am that wishing person

up to this, with truth,
i have not felt this sadness

why is it that from this eyelid my tears are flowing?

can i live in this world without the crime i am burdened with?
will i not want it to disappear with the plain people?

are these emotions
already corrupted?
even if all of them
are just for you?

i think that you are a lovely person up to this, i have been unable to bear it alone although i have not been shaking or anything why is desiring this no good? just for you to let this warm, beautiful drop of crimson blood drop from your eye

i have already given the flapping wings
but the light has yet to reach your heart living for the first time, and dying

up to this, with truth,

my tears are flowing?
