</lyrics>

we are always waking up in front of the country while we put our faces together we sang

not recognizing our futures i will wait
one day, without wandering like i am able to come back even teaching the little birds we are unable to forget the feathers of that song the gentle sadness

where and when can i find it?
will it be inside the rising green sprout?

holding onto only you
my arms turn into vines softly wrapping around you i dont want to be separated lalala

i am in the corner of the never-ending garden with this small world

we bury the seeds we picked up in the burial grounds while we dig
the warmth will remain but i am looking at this dream even if it is difficult to the extent of this the lovely loneliness my heart is scattering piling up the cracks in the shining stars

reaching out towards you this hand turns into the wind no matter how far we get surely, you will reach me

the lovely sorrow
where and when can i find it?
rising green sprout?

my strength is between us getting stronger like this i never want to be separated
lalala
