</lyrics>
The sleeping lion has awakened,
Pursuing the dream not seen through
The sleepless village is eternally pursuing
The tomorrow without a tomorrow
Alone I open my eyes this night

Forever within the darkness
Like crimson, swaying embers
Even in armor-clad hearts
Smouldering thoughts do not go out

Ah, until everything burns
Within the passionate flames
I want to keep living

The sleeping lion has awakened,
Pursuing the dream not seen through
Even if the road I should travel
Continues to somewhere
Someday I will struggle to your side

The distant sky to which flockless sheep look
I believe that in these hands I can hold
A thing more important than transient joy

Carried concealed beneath a leather coat
The sword to paint weakness
Embraced in your arms
Dissolved by spilled tears

Ah, even if changed by life
Do people still possess
Things that they want to protect?

God is not in the sky,
The earth is raging
People chase after dazzling desires
Carrying darkness under their arms,
And passing through

Within my untainted heart
I am thinking of you
Within this tainted world,
A chance love surely
Shines brighter
Than anything else

The sleeping lion has awakened,
Pursuing the dream not seen through
Even if the road I should travel
Continues to somewhere
Someday I will struggle to your side

The distant sky to which flockless sheep look
I believe that in these hands I can hold
A thing more important than transient joy

The sleeping lion has awakened,
Pursuing the dream not seen through
The sleepless village is eternally pursuing
The tomorrow without a tomorrow
Today as well I close my eyes alone
Within my untainted heart
I am thinking of you
Within this tainted world,
Love that is born surely
Shines brighter
Than anything else
