&lt;/lyrics&gt;
Love will give wish to all the people
Awake from your dreams
As though to comfort a crying baby
What should we do for the world
I shall shake this world
And softly calm the screams

Even if we chase after
The garden of light
Still heaven's wrath
Shall touch us

I am never separated from you
Look up at the white moon of the forest of debris
I call back the memories of treasures
From a faraway time

Love will give wish to all the people
If I hold you in my arms
Then I will also embrace sadness
What should we do for the world
I shall enshroud this world
And the people will walk onwards
From the end of their heart-breaking history

On this ruined earth
Remains one flower
Turning its face toward the sun
As though it shall yet bloom

This world is full of beautiful things
Greenery spread out under the all-encompassing sky
You think of your beloved homeland
I live

Love will give wish to all the people
When tears turn into a smile
The world is repainted
What should we do for the world
I shall embrace this world
And the people shall continue to be satisfied
By the deep love of the sea

Flames fall among a city where people try to escape
Sin is in the eyes of starving children
Until the day the fairytale bluebird's shadow
Is reflected here

Love will give wish to all the people
Can the helpless hands I extend
Save someone someday?
What should we do for the world
I shall shake this world

And someday calm the screams

Love will give wish to all the people
If I hold you in my arms
I will fight the sadness with all my strength
What should we do for the world
I shall enshroud this world
And the people will walk onwards
From the end of their heart-breaking history

Love will give wish to all the people
When tears turn into a smile
The world is repainted
What should we do for the world
I shall make this earth shine
And the people will continue to carry
The great love from the sky
