Why are you leaving

What will I live for

Why are you leaving

What will I live for

Why are you leaving

What will I live for

Why are you leaving

What will I live for

</lyrics>
There was a blooming flower on the winter street
When we were walking together
And without realizing it,
We walked too far, didn't we?

Why are you leaving?
There's no one who will stop you
What will I live for?
I hold you close
And tenderness is so far away
The cold wind, little-by-little,
Continues to steal away
Your dreams

On that day, while treading on fallen leaves,
You noticed the dirt on your shoes
And hardly even said
Goodbye

Why are you leaving?
I can't even ask any questions
What will I live for?
It seems as though time on this snowy street
Has stopped
As long as that arm of yours still strays,

You will not
Be able to go home

Right now, I am softly sleeping
Until spring awakens me
I will be certain
To grant you happiness

Why are you leaving?
That path we took at that time is no longer there
What will I live for?
I hold you close
Tenderness is so far away
My heart is always
Searching for
You

Why are you leaving?
I can't even chase after you
What will I live for?
Even though my love is
Buried in the snow,
The two of us
Have no reason to remember
Anything anymore.
