&lt;/lyrics&gt;

my watch's sound disappears at 3 in the morning your shadow is reflected on the transparent window it is asking to be beckoned the burning flower releases a scent, sweetly like its being choked while im floating, i open the key the swirl of the voices are noisy this night is a golden sake come, the summons are able to play they dye the crimson skin outside the door, there is a carnival

the unrecognized people dance everyone, i dont really matter i want to live just like an angel i have even forgotten your face my tears drip into the cup bit by bit, the taste of lies this world is a wicked snake it wraps around me, it confuses me but i still want to love

i have entrusted you my body and heart on the waves of that dark night's curtain i wrap around the dark rose asmy breath goes out just like an angel this night is a silver rain ah, like a hot arrow the suspicion never ends

on the waves of that dark night's curtain
