<lyrics>
From the atelier's window
The Redon Bleu sky overflows
Blotting out the floor

He left before daybreak
The wide sheets are Wrapping the unchangeable morning

You know I love you.
This time,
you're taking me someplace
I don't know the reason but I wish you'd give me a hint
I know of the cunningness of adults, but...

Drawing a self-portrait,
The face reflected in the mirror is Quite different every night

It's just romance, I take a deep breath
On these transient days
I just want to sink down in the bathroom

You know I love you. Till we meet again
I'm going to keep studying you
The cafe the subway the art museum
Wherever I go,
I'm always followed
By your gaze

You know I love you. Come soon
Take me away
To a place where everything glitters.

Monsieur, why does love
Change people?
The truth is, I have dirty thoughts
I would like
To tell you them all
