

Alice Smith, Secrets

A morning after the only laughter
'Cause that project goes wrong the night before
I'm feeling broken, words already spoken
They crumble and hurt on the floor
Accept for those that I should not have said
Guarded secrets locked inside my head
Oh, what did I tear
Precious germs entrusted to me
Those were struggling to be free
Uncontrolled from my mouth they fell
Oh, secrets, some mine, some his, some hers, secrets
The truth's so easy, 'cause I'm so lazy
It comes so naturally
Oops, I told him just where you've been
Perhaps she should not have told him
Please in future don't burden me
With your lies, all your secrecy
Love deal with my heart
Because from my mouth they fell
I have trouble keeping things on the deep end
And then not seize that I saw
Oh, secrets, some mine, some his, some hers, secrets
Oh, secrets, some mine, some his, some hers
Thought I'd keep it underneath my hair
But temptation won me over just like that
Thank you not for the extra guilt I got
When you said what you say
I'm just a child, wild and free
I need the time to take care of me
Take the time to care for number one so
Please in future don't burden me
With your lies, all your secrecy
Love deal with my heart
Because from my mouth they fell
I have trouble keeping things on the deep end
And then to seize that I saw
Oh, secrets, some mine, some his, some hers, secrets
Oh, secrets, some mine, some his, some hers
