

Alison Krauss, There Is Life

Under the snow, beneath the frozen streams
There is life
You'll have to know when nature sleeps she dreams
There is life
And the colder the winter, the warmer the spring
The deeper the sorrow, the more our hearts sing
Even when you can't see it inside everything
There is life
After the rain the sun will reappear
There is life
After the pain the joy will still be here
There is life
For it's out of the darkness that we learn to see
And out of the silence that songs come to be
And all that we dream of awaits patiently
There is life, there is life
