

Alkaline Trio, Old School Reasons

I got these thoughts in my head dirty as fuck and never leaving and then best left unsaid all the drinks under breath got some shit off my chest put on my back next to the monkey nest that somebody left with me the day I was born

I got a hole in my head the size of lake fuckin' Michigan my pipes lined in lead got old school reasons to die all my money's been spent on a face lift via alcohol this sinner repents to an empty bathroom reflection please take these two words and do with them what you would like It's a dream I had, drove me mad just your time, just my fucking life

I got a bottle in hand straight to the ground with all my memories It's best left unsaid when they've all been left behind

all my money's been spent on a DIY lobotomy
this sinner repents
to a lake and bathroom mirror

please take these two words
and do with them what you would like
it's a dream I had, drove me mad
just your time, just my fucking life so take these two words and do with them what you would like it's a dream you had, drove me mad just your time, just my fucking life

and that's my life
over and over again
just my fucking life

it might seem meaningless to you but it means everything to me and I'm fucked without you please take these words

and do with them what you would like
it's a dream I had, drove me mad
just your time, just my fucking life

and that's my life
over and over again
just my fucking life