

All The Day Holiday, Greener

I look at the trees and I wonder: what's on the other side?
Is it water, or leaves, or is it houses full of families?
Is it trails that lead to freedom?
I look at the bridge and wonder: what's on the other side?
Is it another dead end, a different state, or is it roads that lead to freedom?
Get out of this world, get out of this place.
Make a life worth living, with love on your face.
Get out of this trend, get out of the wind.
Run away from your reflection. It goes in one direction.
I look at these people and wonder: what makes them so unhappy?
Is it depression or Satan telling lies?
Just listen, there's freedom inside!
Get out of this world, get out of this place.
Make a life worth living with love on your face.
Get out of this trend, get out of the wind.
Run away from your reflection, it goes in one direction.
I look at the horizon and wonder: where is my limit?
I look at the sky and say: who will defend it?
I've got one life and I'm going to live it.