

Allison Moorer, The One That Got Away

(allison moorer/kostas)

Oh, the one that got away, got away with my heart
Broke into my world and tore it apart
I should pick up the pieces, but I don't know where to start
Oh, the one that got away, got away with my heart

I lost my heart so easily, I feel like a fool
Against my better judgment, I broke my own rule
I didn't think I'd fall in love, but what can I do
Oh, I'm hurting and missing him so

Oh, the one that got away, got away with my heart

Broke into my world and tore it apart
I should pick up the pieces, but I don't know where to start
Oh, the one that got away, got away with my heart

If I felt any better, I think I would die
'cause all I do is sit at home, think of him, and cry
But he ain't worth a single tear that falls from my eye
So why do I still love him anyway

Oh, the one that got away, got away with my heart
Broke into my world and tore it apart
I should pick up the pieces, but I don't know where to start
Oh, the one that got away, got away with my heart