

Allister, Flypaper

Walk home,
Drowning these memories in the rain
Biting my lip to transfer this pain
You're gone,
And I'm still going through withdrawal
Next time around I'll build a stronger wall

You broke my guard with guiltless eyes
Devoured me like a virus from inside
And came back just to salt the wounds
Now thanks to you...

CHORUS:

I started running out
I started running away
When I get too close I'm scared to stay
I started running out
I started running away
Now others pay for your mistakes

You needed more attention than I gave
Instead of talking you just played games
And smiled
As my whole world became unstitched
I wish I'd know you could be such a heartless bitch

You broke my guard with guiltless eyes
Devoured me like a virus from inside
And came back just to salt the wounds
Now thanks to you...

CHORUS x3