

Allred, Tomb

I woke up such a mess today so alone and so afraid but all the mistakes I have made they follow me back to this place and all these faded memories they still haunt me in my sleep excuse me for the way I look at you you remind me of someone I thought I knew and I loved her so but she left me in this tomb so why does it always end this way a million things we never say cause if our hearts were meant to break then why is there so much we can take excuse me for the way I look at you you remind me of someone I swore I knew
and I loved her so
but she left me in this tomb