

Amber Pacific, Follow Your Dreams, Forget The S

Your more than what you make yourself to be
Your holding back a side we've yet to see
Your buried six feet deep and no one cares
I'll show how to sweep them off their feet
Forget the ways they choose to be
Everything thats fake and insincere

As winds set, we'll forget
We'll move ahead, we'll find our way
As winds set, we'll forget
Its not too late

Caught up in the way life seems to make you
Feel as if you say i wont make it through
Your hanging by a thread and no one seems to care
But you'll find that in your heart i will be there

Stop buying all the things seen on t.v.
Your falling into what they've made you think You've lost the only thing that makes you feel Ill prove it to the world for all to see Beneath their smile they fear for the chance they may have missed a life thats real

As winds set, we'll forget
We'll move ahead, we'll find our way
As winds set, we'll forget
Its not too late

Caught up in the way life seems to make you
Feel as if you say i wont make it through
Your hanging by a thread and no one seems to care

Caught up in the way life seems to make you
Feel as if you say i wont make it through
Your hanging by a thread and no one seems to care

As winds set, we'll forget
We'll move ahead, we'll find our way
As winds set, we'll forget
Its not too late

Caught up in the way life seems to make you
Feel as if you say i wont make it through
The moments in our lives when all things come to See the other side, stay strong stay true
Your hanging by a thread and no one seems to care
But you'll find that in your heart i will be there
