

Amber Pacific, Leaving What You Wanted

Will we ever know if falling backwards could save us?
Why not try it just once and hope that we survive
Even though we're running from what once was behind us
We still stand a chance to change our lives

For you I'll take one breath
And leave you with the memories you'll forget
For you I'd wade my life away
Just to be with you and to never feel this way

I'll pick up the pieces from what's gone and broke now
I'm sorry you're left with what I've become
We're lost in the moment, our chapters are finished
Regret every minute, I miss you so..

As each day will pass
We'll stop to take this time to find it in our hearts to share this night
A piece of you is here with me
But now you're gone

And I'll pick up the pieces from what's gone and broke now
I'm sorry you're left with what I've become
We're lost in the moment, our chapters are finished
Regret every minute, I miss you so..

I'll take one look with both my eyes
To forget