

Ambrosia, Endings

(pack)

The season of life is here
And the reason to live is clear
We've waited 'till who knows when
For the time to begin again
It's more than the change of time
It's something that's in all our minds
That no matter where or when
For endings are only
Places where all things begin

And the end is near
Of things we have grown to fear

We worry and reason why
With the times that change our lives
But more than the changing time
Is the image in all our minds
Of where it should be or when
For endings are always
Places where all things begin

Oh, look at the sun
On every stage, in everyone
Ah, stand in the light
As we get on, we will put up a fight

(places where) all things begin...
