

Ambulance LTD, Young Urban

Take it from a well-known man.
You can count on the fine performances
And hear them sayin, "It's never twice the same, baby."

Come around the bend once more
And believe in the sun's (<-Son's?) abilities.
I know he's watching and always listening to me.

The seeds come alive with the things they can grow.
He may be a talented man
But I told you, "Believe in the things that you know."
Baby, I trust that you can.
Trust you can.

Come across a lifeless bore
And I wonder if he knows anything.
I feel like laughing
But I don't have to say nothing.

Step in through a well-shut door
And come in the brave new scenery.
They move like switches
On all the rusted old machinery

The seeds come alive and continue to grow.
He may be a talented man
But I told you, "Believe in the things that you know."
Baby, I trust that you can.
Trust you can
