

Amorphis, Ethereal Solitude

Blackness falls on empty calmness the night is full I've kissed the frozen sweetness the mist around my grief don't let the past wear you down let go of the life that haunts you tonight don't let the silence take the sound alone and isolated ethereal solitude you can keep all your secrets there's no one to hold on to

don't let the past wear you down
let go of the life that haunts you tonight
don't let the silence take the sound

don't let the past wear you down
let go of the life that haunts you tonight
don't let the silence take the sound