

Amy Belle, I love You

i love you
close your eyes what do you see on the inside a long remembered memory of tears once cried of a different place and a different time and its long ago and far away on the other side tomorrow was yesterday the truth was denied in a different place and a different time and were here now
all you have to know is i am close and i will never go
i understand all the pain youve been through if you hear nothing else hear this
i love you
through it all and in between a voice from the past in your days and in your dreams a question to ask do you know how it feels to be under the wheels
and were here now
all you have to know is i am close
and i will never go
i understand all the pain youve been through
if you hear nothing else hear this
i love you
your hard times are over your long roller coaster ride draws to an end now that your mine
and were here now
and all you have to know is i am close
and i will never go
so sorry for all the pain youve been through if you hear nothing else hear this
i love you
close your eyes what do you see on the inside