Amy Grant, So Glad

(Brown Bannister, Chris Christian, Amy Grant)

I had laid some mighty plans
Thought I held them in my hands
Then my world began to crumble all away
I tried to build it back again
I couldn't bear to see it end
How I hurt to know You wanted it that way

[Chorus:]

And I'm so glad, glad to find the reason
That I'm happy-sad that You've torn it all away
And I'm so glad, though it hurts to know I'm leaving Everything I ever thought that I would be
Once I held it in my hand
It was a kingdom made of sand
But now you've blown it all away
I can't believe that I can say that I'm glad

Long before my plans were made I know a master plan was laid With a power that superceded my control And if that truth could pierce my heart I wouldn't wander from the start Trying desperately to make it on my own

[Chorus]