

Amy Macdonald, My Only One

After all the mistakes have been and gone
You're still standin' here, standin' strong
And I forgive all the wrongs that you have ever done
'cause you're still the only one
The apple of your mother's eye
Your life - it passed your father by
I bet he wishes he was there too
So much grace and poise yeah you're always right on cue
And there were times
You know it's true
When the whole world
Was lookin' at you
They changed their minds from day to night
One minute you're wrong then the next thing you're right
God rest your soul
Keep standin' tall my only one
There's still a twinkle in your eye
Even after we say goodbye
You're always there in spirit and in mind
I'll be with you until the end of time
And there were times
You know it's true
When the whole world
Was lookin' at you
They changed their mind from day to night
One minute you're wrong then the next thing you're right
God rest your soul
Keep standin' tall
My only one
