In the endlessly stretching blue sky we are together
Continue fighting the anxiety you have towards a neverending future

I will give your injured, thirsty heart water without trying to hide it

At sad times, look, we're together let's divide the pain and cry
Even when you feel all alone, we will be waiting for you

What sort of things can we possibly do within so short a time
Occasionally in life we put our lives on the line and try our best

Because we sweat because we cry it gets hot so let's laugh at a priest's stole

Let's try to believe, look, we're together It all starts with a smile
Let's make a promise that sometime you will become a gentle wind

I will bring your injured and thirsty heart hidden water

At sad times, look, we're together Let's divide the pain and cry
When you feel lonely we will be waiting for you
After this and before, we are always together our eyes reflect the other's because It's all love
This accidental meeting is a miracle Hold me tightly and let's live on
After this and before, we are always together
This accidental meeting is a miracle
