Anadivine, This Accident Worked Too Well

Mouths with tongues full of bitterness Are open graves waiting

Take these pills Sleep tonight You're drenched in poison But let her feel the knife again I want her dead again In my bed again

Eyes full of images Has shown me her again

Feel the chill Stand up right Tensions mounding Let her see daylight again I want her blind again In my life again

You're not going anywhere tonight Or for the rest of your life