

Anathema, Unchained (Tales Of The Unexpected)

Unbroken unchained relentless to regain
What we have lost
A grip on reality screaming deep down within me as I count the cost

Holding on in spite of the doubt
Always trying to find it out
That we could find a way back there
Beyond the moon right through the air
Always remembering...
Always remembering...

Holding on in spite of the doubt
Always trying to find it out
That we could find a way back there
Beyond the moon right through the air
Always remembering...
Always remembering...
Always remembering...
Always remembering...
