

And One, Not The Only One

Living a life of kings and queens
Building a castle out of dreams
You still remember all their names
Before the world went up in flames

And it's too late you'll find
To satisfy a restless mind
Time claims you and I'm Living on a secret lie

Just before I just before I go
There's something you should know my dear
When all is said
When all is done
You are not the only one

And so I stand here all accused
My defenses they're all overused
I know them all by heart
'cause they were yours from the start

Just before I just before I go
There's something you should know my dear
When all is said
When all is done
You are not the only one