And One, You Don't Love Me Anymore

I didn't mean to treat you wrong Or maybe I did I'm not so sure anymore Somehow I knew that it wouldn't be long Before you'd break up and close the door And be no more

Still it echoes in my head Things you did and the things you said

You don't love me anymore I see it in your eyes Don't believe in your lies Just cold as ice

Morning sun peers through the shades Past emotions slowly fade Results light upon your skin Guilt and passion and forgiven sin And all the things that pain

I'm sorry it had to end this way But nothing matters anyway

You don't love me anymore I see it in your eyes Don't believe in your lies Just cold as ice