Andi Deris, I Don't Believe In The Good

Somewhere when I'm dead and gone I will stand there justifying Was I living my life for The shadowside or was I shining Many times I drove in The wrong way for long But those who kept moving Forever last home They follow the evil I knew that they would I don't believe in the good

I don't believe in the good Don't believe in the good I don't believe I got no reason I should No belief in the good I don't believe

Honesty is dying
Inasmuch as corruption grows
Poverty's incresing
Where the big lie is sold
Now the strong are climbing
The weak are falling down
But I know what happens
When masses hit the ground
A new revolution to add in the books
I don't believe in the good

I don't believe in the good Don't believe in the good I don't believe I got no reason I should No belief in the good I don't believe In you
