

Andy Hunter, Smile

Over land and sea, moving constantly, you are in the smallest place.

Standing face to face.

Now I can see it, where I never knew. And now I've found it, it's always been you.

Smiling, from the heart I feel you as you are. Smiling, raining down like sun.

Smiling, and in the my soul I see you as you are. Smiling on and on and on.

Holding the world in hand, spinning round at your command,

You are in every DNA, your signature displayed.

Now I can see it, where I never knew, and now I've found it.

It's always been you.

Offer up a world in your hand, crossing tide and time to bring me home.