

Angelas Dish, Lights Out

I thought i saw you at the station
With your blonde hair
Walking down my street of incomplete
You saw me hit the pavement
Kiss the asphalt
You were wearing ordinary jeans
Well you're noting but a flashback
Have it all back
Sitting in my court of mixed up dreams
You're nothing but a heartache
Or a mistake
Or something in between
Lay your dreams aside
Each day the sun will rise
And it brings a new hope
Yeah it brings a new hope
Lights out over Springwood
And i know you're somewhere underneath
But you don't wanna know who i am
You don't even care what i believe
Lay your dreams aside
Each day the sun will rise
And it brings a new hope
Yeah it brings a new hope
Lay your dreams aside
Each day the sun will rise
And it brings a new hope
Yeah it brings a new hope
And it feels so useless
Just useless waiting...
Lay your dreams aside
Each day the sun will rise
And it brings a new hope
Yeah it brings a new hope
Lay your dreams aside
Each day the sun will rise
And it brings a new hope
Yeah it brings a new hope
Lay your dreams aside
Each day the sun will rise
And it brings a new hope
And it brings a new hope