

Angelo Kelly, Stay like a child

Pure as pure can be, you're just a little baby, just a little baby
We learn more from you than you can learn from us, you can learn from us
Your feet are still small, we'll see where they will bring you, see where they will bring you
Mummy and Daddy will keep you safe from harm, keep you safe from harm
Don't you ever grow old, don't you ever grow old
Don't you ever grow old, stay like a child in your heart, in your heart
You see so much more, than we ever will, than we ever will
You feel so much more than we ever could, than we ever could
Like an empty page, your story is still unwritten, your story is still unwritten
Hold you in our arms, but soon you'll walk and talk, soon you'll walk and talk
Don't you ever grow old, don't you ever grow old
Don't you ever grow old, stay like a child in your heart, in your heart, oh oh oh
In your heart, oh oh oh
Pure as pure can be, you're just a little baby, just a little baby
