

Angels & Airwaves, I Wan't Say Sorry

The ash set in then blew away
It's getting lost into the sea
I grew so close to all the thoughts I had to leave forever
I left the chill and voice of screams and kids and ran for shelter
You know I won't say sorry
Do you know I won't say sorry
The pain has a bad reaction
A blend of fear and passion
You know what it's like to believe
It makes me wanna scream
I see a glow from far away
A famed reflection on the sea
I left some words quite far from here to be a sure reminder
I laid them out in stone in case they need to last forever
You know I won't say sorry
Do you know I won't say sorry
The pain has a bad reaction
A blend of fear and passion
You know what it's like to believe
It makes me wanna scream
I see the stars; they're in your eyes
A playful kiss, can I turn aside it
A fast escape in the nit of time
You've lost your wish, can I help you find it
I'm on my knee, just sworn to start
A fresh new start to be undecided
If love's the word that you say, you say it I will listen
If love's the word that you say, you say it I will listen
If love's the word that you say, you say it I will listen
If love's the word that you say, you say it I will listen
If love's the word that you say, you say it I will listen
If love's the word that you say, you say it I will listen
