

Angels and Airwaves, Start The Machine

The ash set in, then blew away,
It's getting lost into the sea.
I grew so close to all the thoughts I had to leave forever,
I left the chill and voice of screams and kids and ran for shelter.

You know I won't say sorry,
You know I won't say sorry.
The pain has a bad reaction,
A blend of fear and passion.
You know what it's like to believe,
It makes me wanna scream.

I see a glow from far away,
A faint reflection on the sea.
I left some words quite far from here, to be a short reminder,
I laid them out in stone, in case they need to last forever

You know I won't say sorry,
You know I won't say sorry.
The pain has a bad reaction,
A blend of fear and passion.
You know what it's like to believe,
It makes me wanna scream.

I see the stars, they're in your eyes
A playful kiss, can't you tell I'm exited?
A Fast escape, in the nick of time,
If you've lost your wish, Can I help you find it?
I'm on my knee, just one to start,
A fresh new start, don't be undecided.

If Love's a word that you say,
Then say it, I will listen.
If Love's a word that you say,
Then say it, I will listen...