

Angels, No More Words

(Brewster-Neeson-Brewster)

Try to find an empty seat up at the front to take a chance on a loaded dice and if you they will remember you cause they know once is nothing when you need it twice Take care of desire, beware of the bad nights make sure that you feel alright because night comes early when you're lonely When you said you wanted aces and eights you added fire to the joker's curse you volunteered to return for more well he's got you now for better of for worse Doing time on your own, can't see where you're goin' your precious fantasy still leaves you lonely In the night, do you wait for the time to pass? in the night, do you make love to your looking glass?
Night come early when you're lonely night comes early when you are alone
