

Angry Johnny And The Killbillies, Jawbone

Angry Johnny And The Killbillies

Miscellaneous

Jawbone

You win some and you lose some That's just the way it goes Someday maybe I'll win one right now I just don't know
I've got a special talent
You might call it a gift
I'm really good at losing
I'm always getting stiffed
I'm a sucker for punishment
I'm always flying blind
But this foolish heart's been broken
Just one too many times
It's time to change my thinking
'cause I'm getting nowhere fast
When somebody says she loves me
It never really lasts
I've gotta stop believing every pretty little liar
Everybody's got a motive
Every seller's got a buyer
No more trusting anybody
Love is nothing but a scam Always leading me to slaughter like a foolish little lamb
Yeah there's one born every minute
Oughta know 'cause here I am
Seems I'm always steppin' in it
But I finally understand
This whole world is full of takers
This whole world is full of thieves
This whole world is full of fakers with the aces up their sleeves
Now I've got a new agenda
Think it's time to change my luck
If you're not doing the fucking
You're the one that's gettin' fucked
No more cryin' no more grieving
I'll be happy as a clam I'll be the one who's always leaving with the money in his hand
You can only break a heart so much it finally turns to stone
And as far as I can tell I will be better off alone
Now I'm gonna be the biggest bastard you have ever met Gonna knock you down so hard and then you never will forget
You broke this camel's back
Yeah, you created quite a creep
So think about that baby while you cry yourself to sleep.