Annie Lennox, Pavement Cracks (Album Version)

The city streets are wet again with rain But I'm walkin' just the same Skies turn to the usual gray When you turn to face the day And love don't show up in the pavement cracks All my water colors fade to black I'm goin' nowhere and I'm ten steps back All my dreams have fallen flat Love don't show in the pavement cracks There will be no turning back Time and space will pass us by and by When we don't see eye to eye I would have done anything For happiness to bring But it don't show up in the pavement cracks I can't even cover up my tracks I'm goin' nowhere and I'm light years back Oh I wish you well

How come, every day I'm still waiting for the change? How come, I still say Give me strength to live? Love don't show in the pavement cracks There will be no turning back Where is my comfort zone? A simple place to call my own 'Cause everything I wanna be Comes crashing down on me And it don't show up in the pavement cracks I can't even recognize my tracks You and I can't turn the whole thing back Oh I wish you well Love don't show in the pavement cracks There will be no turning back
