

Annihilator, Innocent Eyes

so precious and new, I see the innocent little eyes I'll always be there, I'll always be there to hear your cries the way you've changed my life from the very first day you were born you give me the answer to what it's all for I worry for you as I look into the future all the things that you've shown me, it's almost as if you were a messenger
the way you've changed my life
from the very first day you were born
you give me the answer to what it's all for want to hold you, so come, in my arms want to feel you and keep you from harm I knew from the start that you could steal my (heart)