

Anthony Hamilton, Dear Life

Oh my baby, Oh my Love,
Ooooooh, woah, oh, woah...woah.

Early was the morn, flowers filled with dew,
I became somebody, through loving you.
Softly as a child, born in natural rain,
I predict the seasons, to go unchanged.

Sometimes in life,
You run across a love unknown,
Without a reason, it seems like you, belong.
Hold on Dear Life,
Don't go off running from what's new,
I became somebody, through loving you.

Warm was the sun, that covered my body so.
Reminded me of you, as I'd first known.
Those were tha days, tha days, that changed my life, and made me new,
I became somebody, through loving you.

Sometimes in life,
You run across a love unknown,
Without a reason, it feels like you, belong.
Hold on Dear Life,
Don't go off running from what's new,
I became somebody, through loving you.

As the sun shined, down on me,
I know with you in love is where I wanna be,
Oooh sometimes, I go on through life,
thinking that love is something that's not meant for me,

Woooah...Somebody, somebody.

Hold on dear life,
Don't go off running from what's new,
I became somebody, through loving you.
I became somebody, through loving you.
Oh, I became somebody, through loving you.
Woah, oh. Ooooooooooooo
