

Antonio Neal, Life Worth Living

People walk around searching
Longing for someone to love
Cause everybody needs somebody
A strong shoulder to lean on

You make my life worth the living
I traded my sorrow in for Your joy
You showed me what true love is
You were the door that set my heart free

I was longing for this long
Not knowing where to look
Seems like out of nowhere
You came into my life
This broken heart you took (and put it back together again)

now, You cause me to dream
And gaze upon the things that are unseen
Cause with You nothing is impossible
Because of Your love
Because of Your love

You make me sing
la,la,la,la,la,la,la,la
