How many tears have you wiped with the back of your hand?
Its the main weakness people have been awarded with after all Because of this, theres a scenery on the other side of each eyelid, therefore Its alright for everyone to differ because somewhere, everybody is similar

Slyness and gentleness in someone turning around, wanting to not be able to throw dreams away

Things called people love people so the wind can blow a flower, so the bird can cross over into the
In order for the wave to return approaching and the rising sun to sink they repeat a yell of love over and over again

While I was lost in thought, my ice cream melted
Whats here for the sake of tomorrow would be broken
Merely looking at the broken plate
For the sake of mistakes, name one thing you can do right now and one thing you cant do as you a

The earth doesnt change speed, light and shadows are questioned to us repeatedly

This mountain blocks my way, so I'm piling up excuses
Therefore it had to be someone's fault, but it's not
We say we want to become strong but in reality we never do let's become strong as we are now
Is this way, this way really okay for us?

Hanged flags meet in blue wind proudly fluttering
I remember the significance of being in this place

For example, if our hands were connected, sometime the day would come for them to separate
But still, but still, we won't be punished for it
In order for the wave to return approaching and the rising sun to sink
We repeat love over and over again
The wind which blows on that hill is like that flag which hovers above
If you sing your song it will be alright
I too will keep singing my song now, so that I can muster one courage even if common sense hides the sky
